

Relief Validation Limited Certifying Authority (RVL CA) PKI Subscriber Agreement

A potential subscriber must read, acknowledge and agree to this subscriber agreement prior to applying for, accepting, or using a digital certificate from RVL CA. If a potential subscriber does not agree to the terms and conditions of this subscriber agreement, she/he need not apply for, accept, or use the digital certificate.

This subscriber agreement will become effective on submission of the certificate application to the RVL CA. By submitting a certificate application, the subscriber is accepting the terms and conditions of this subscriber agreement. The RVL CA certification services are governed by the RVL CA Certificate Practice Statement (RVLCA CPS) that is subject for revision and amendment from time to time, which is an integral part of this subscriber agreement.

RVLCA CPS may be accessed on the internet at <https://www.reliefvalidation.com.bd/repository.html>. Key features of the RVLCA CPS are cited hereunder for subscriber convenience.

- User must agree to use the digital certificate and any related RVL CA PKI services only in accordance with the CPS and relevant laws, rules, and regulations.
- The subscriber confirmed that the information is accurate, current and complete.
- User consent to third party, independent verification of the provided information. Should there be any material changes in the information provided in the user application after a digital certificate has been issued to the subscriber, the certificate will be rendered invalid and subscriber will have to apply for a new certificate.
- Subscribers shall not send any data in encrypted format that may directly or indirectly compromise the nation's security and interest.
- Subscribers agree and acknowledge that RVL CA has the authority and power to revoke the digital certificate issued to user if at any point it is determined that the information provided is incomplete or incorrect.
- Subscriber shall submit user private key (s) to RVL CA or CCA on their direction of any competent authority under various laws and acts including the Information and Communication Technology Act 2006, because of a dispute arising due to the issue of a digital certificate issued by RVL CA and used for encryption of any material.
- As stated in the RVLCA CPS, RVL CA or designated partner for whom sub-ca has been created or registration authority (i.e. RVL CA/RA) provides limited warranties, disclaims all other warranties, including warranties of merchant ability or fitness for a particular purpose, limits liability, and excludes all liability for incidental, consequential, and punitive damages as stated in the RVL CA CPS.
- User demonstrate their knowledge and acceptance of the terms of this subscriber agreement and the RVL CA CPS and the documents referred to in the RVL CA CPS by either
 - i. Submitting an application for a digital certificate to RVL certifying authority or designated partner for whom sub-CA has been created or registration authority, or
 - ii. Using the digital certificate. Please note that the scope of this agreement is limited to the issue of digital certificate and will not apply in any manner to the contractual terms and conditions that maybe entered between the subscriber and the relying party.

- All claims, contractual or otherwise, resulting from or connected to the dealings or transactions shall be entirely between the subscriber and the relying party.
- RVL CA Certificate Practice Statement controls the provision and use of RVL New Media Certifying Authority's (RVL CA) digital certification services – including Digital Certificate application, application validation, Digital Certificate issuance, acceptance, use, suspension, activation, and revocation of a Digital Certificate.
- The User/Subscriber acknowledges that the RVL CA has provided the sufficient information to become familiar with digital signatures and certificates before applying for, using, and relying upon a certificate.
- RVL CA assumes that the subscriber will make himself/herself aware of the subscriber representations and warranties, Section 9.6.3 of RVL CA CPS prior to applying for a Digital Certificate.
- RVL CA offers different Classes and types of Digital Certificates under the RVL CA Trust Network. The Subscriber must decide which Class and Type of Digital Certificates suit their need.
- Before submitting a Digital Certificate application, the subscriber must, except while requesting for an Encryption Certificate, generate a key pair (Public Key and Private Key) in a secure medium and shall take reasonable care to retain the control of Private key corresponding to Public Key (including Encryption Key pair) and takes all steps to prevent its disclosure to a person not authorized to affix the Digital Signature of the Subscriber.
- The subscriber must accept a Digital Certificate before communicating it to others, or otherwise invoking use of it. By accepting a Digital Certificate, the applicant makes certain important representations as described in subscriber representations and warranties, Section 9.6.3 of RVL CA CPS.
- If the subscriber recipient of a digital signature or certificate, subscriber are responsible for deciding whether to rely on it. Before doing so, the RVL CA recommends that subscriber use the certificate to verify that the digital signature was created during the operational period of the certificate by the private key corresponding to the public key listed in the certificate, and that the message associated with the digital signature not been altered.
- Subscribers are agreeing to notify the RVL CA upon compromise of their private key.
- The Certificate Practice Statement provides various warranties and promises made by the RVL CA. Otherwise, warranties are disclaimed, and liability is limited by the RVL CA.
- The Certification Practice Statement contains various miscellaneous provisions, requires compliance with applicable regulation.
- By applying for a digital certificate, using the form overleaf through online and confirm that user have read the certificate practice statement and agree to all its terms.

Since the above overview is for quick understanding only, the subscribers are recommended to read the RVLCA CPS which outlines the complete certification process.

☐ By applying for a digital certificate, I/we hereby confirm that I/we read the certificate practice statement and agree to all its terms and conditions.